It's summer and you can find just about anything at a street food fair – performers, exotic food and new cultures. But what you take home from that event, will be the fond memories from your taste buds. At Haliburton, our R&D and Culinary teams are constantly exploring flavors from around the world and putting together ideas for exotic new products.

Ask us about our fire roasted fruits and vegetables or let us know what new item that you'd like to try by e-mailing us at info@haliburton.net.
